1. Develop and Implement a written public relations campaign\plan to create a greater role and clarify its responsibilities, create an awareness of the needs and issues of American Indians in North Dakota; to celebrate the accomplishments of Indian individuals, programs and projects.
2. Gather and facilitate the dissemination of data and statistics and research issues, concerns, and needs that pertain to the American Indian population in the State of North Dakota.
3. Facilitate a collaborative relationship between and among agencies and tribal communities as it relates to legislation, education, and social and health needs.
4. Advocate for the design, development and implementation of Tribal initiatives that may include but not limited to water issues, (2) gaming, (3) education, (4) taxes, and (5) social and health needs.

Program Statistical Data

The Commission works with five North Dakota American Indian communities and on a limited basis with the Sisseton-Wahpeton Tribe based in South Dakota. The North Dakota Tribes are Spirit Lake (4 districts, 4 schools), Standing Rock (5 districts, 8 schools, on ND side), Three Affiliated (5 districts, 8 schools), and the Turtle Mountain Band of Chippewa (5 districts, 7 schools). The fifth ND American Indian community is the Trenton Indian Service Area. Trenton, which is a sub-division of the Turtle Mountain Band of Chippewa, has 1 district and 1 school.

The North Dakota American Indian population, per the 2000 US Census, is 31,329 or approximately 5% of the total state population.

American Indians in ND are young - American Indian children comprise over 8% of children under 18 years of age. 41%, or about 13,000, of the American Indian population are under 18 years of age as compared to 25% across all races in ND.

4.9% of North Dakota's total population is American Indian.

71% (seventy-one percent) or 7,307 of North Dakota's American Indian students are enrolled in schools located on or near Indian reservations;

24% or 2,427 are enrolled in "urban" or rural North Dakota schools; and

5% are enrolled in non-public and or parochial schools.

Explanation of Program Costs

The cost associated at the program level will provide for long-term articulated needs identified by the American Indian communities. The low achievement rate of American Indian children continues to lag an average of 20 points below that of the general school population of children in North Dakota schools. American Indian children still constitute the largest number of students by ethnicity and represent the largest number of limited English proficient students as defined by federal legislation. North Dakota ranks as one of the top 20 states with significant enrollments of American Indian students in the United States. American Indian students account for 9.9 percent of the total number of all students enrolled in North Dakota schools by type. Funds will be used to focus efforts to identify and offer strategies to address some of the consistent issue of student achievement, attendance, rates of graduation, efforts to work with key school\school districts on appropriate cultural pedagogy and research-based methodologies proven to impact the severe gap in achievement.

Program Goals and Objectives

The goals of the North Dakota Indian Affairs Commission as articulated continue to be:

To increase the capacity of the state and state agencies to better address issues related to American Indians systemically. Increase the need for communication and cooperation toward resolution of matters of mutual concern.

Build inter-agency support for identification/securing of personnel within agencies to serve in a liaison capacity on American Indian related issues and to network with the ND Indian Affairs Commission.

In prior year's State agencies saw the need and created dedicated positions and personnel to address the needs of their American Indians stakeholders. Prior to the 2001-2003 biennia, there were two state-based positions, exclusive of the ND Indian Affairs Commission - the Tribal Liaison position in the ND Department of Human Services and administrator for the Indian Scholarship Program in the North Dakota University Systems Agency. In years past, the Departments of Commerce (Indian Business Office), Corrections (A native social worker on the ND Parole Board), and Public Instruction (Indian Education Director) had created Indian coordinator\director positions. In the 2005-2007 biennia, two additional agency based positions were created.
